Contents

Tables, Maps, and Figures xv
Kings of Unified Silla and Koryŏ xvii
Abbreviations xxi

Introduction 1
Methodological considerations: religion and political order 4
Korean Buddhism: State Protectionism? 13
Sources 21
Structure 24

Part I  Historical and Ideological Background

1 Buddhism and the State in Late Silla 31
   The fall of Silla and the rise of Wang Kön 32
   Buddhism and the state in Unified Silla 40
   The Sŏn school in late Silla: dharma lineages and the Nine Mountains 49
   The economic and social basis of the Sŏn sanmunn 62
   Buddhism and the state in the Later Three Kingdoms 71
   Conclusion 73

2 Foundations of a New Buddhist Policy: T’aejo and Buddhism 75
   Wang Kön’s policy of legitimation 76
   Confucianism in early Koryŏ 86
   Wang Kön’s Buddhist Ideology: the Ten Injunctions 89
Contents

The First Injunction: the power of the Buddhas 93
The Second Injunction: the relation between Buddhism and geomancy 101
The Sixth Injunction: the relationship between Buddhism and native religions 112
T’aejo’s relation with Buddhist schools 121
Representation of the ruler through Buddhism 133
Conclusion 146

Part II The Official Institution of Buddhism

3 Legal Provisions on the Status of Monks 151
Ordination restrictions 153
Other legislation concerning monks 161
Status divisions within the monkhood 168
Conclusion 181

4 The Saṅgha Examination, Ranking, and Administration 183
The examination for monks in Koryŏ 184
The administrative system for the Saṅgha 203
The Saṅgha Registry: the central organ of the Buddhist bureaucracy? 221
Conclusion 236

5 The Royal and State Preceptors 238
The origins of the office of state preceptor 239
The state preceptor in Silla 243
The emergence of the royal preceptor in early Koryŏ 247
The preceptors after T’aejo 255
Conclusion 267

Part III The Ritual and Economic Roles of Buddhism

6 The Buddhist Temple Economy in Early Koryŏ 271
The nature of temple land in early Koryŏ 273
Land donations to temples: case studies 286
Official temples in Koryŏ: the pibo-sa system 295
Private temples 305
Conclusion 310
Contents

7 Buddhist State Rituals

- Defining ritual 315
- Main Koryŏ Buddhist state rituals 319
- Royal ancestor worship through Buddhism 335
- The Koryŏ Tripiṭaka and the Koryŏ dynasty 349
- Conclusion 362

Appendix

Biographical Abstracts of Koryŏ Monks 375

Reference Matter

- Character List 419
- Bibliography 433
- Index 467